WE ARE MARSHALL

Marshall University charts a flight to transport the Thundering Herd football team to Greenville, North Carolina. On the evening of November 14, 1970, the aircraft clipped trees on a ridge and crashed into a gully. There were no survivors.

In the wake of the tragedy, President Donald Dedmon leans towards suspending the football program, but he is ultimately persuaded to reconsider by the pleas of the Marshall students and Huntington residents, and especially the few football players who didn't make the flight.

Enter a young new head coach Jack Lengyel, who with the help of Red Dawson (the sole surviving member of the previous coaching staff), works to rebuild the team.
